

Important Notes:

- Investment involves risks and the BOCHK China Golden Dragon Fund (the "Sub-Fund") may not be suitable for everyone. Past performance is not indicative of future performance. The Sub-Fund is subject to market and exchange rate fluctuations and to the risks inherent in all investments. Price of Units and the income (if any) generated from the Sub-Fund may go down as well as up. Investors could face no returns and/or suffer significant loss related to the investments. There is no guarantee in respect of repayment of principal.
- The key risks to which the Sub-Fund is subject to include: general investment risk, foreign exchange and RMB currency and conversion risk, single country and concentration risk, emerging market/ the People's Republic of China ("PRC") market risk, equity market risk, risk associated with high volatility of the equity market in Mainland China, risk associated with regulatory/ exchanges requirements/policies of the equity market in Mainland China, risks associated with Shanghai-Hong Kong Stock Connect and Shenzhen-Hong Kong Stock Connect (collectively, "Shanghai and Shenzhen Connect"), risk of investing in ELLs, risks relating to investment in ETFs, PRC tax risk, derivative instruments risk and potential conflicts of interest.
- Investing in emerging markets, such as the PRC may involve increased risks and special considerations not typically associated with investment in more developed markets.
- The relevant rules and regulations on Shanghai and Shenzhen Connect are subject to change which may have potential retrospective effect. Each of Shanghai and Shenzhen Connect is subject to a set of Daily Quota, which does not belong to the Sub-Fund and can only be utilized on a first-come-first serve basis. Where a suspension in the trading through the programme is effected, the Sub-Fund's ability to invest in A shares or access the PRC market through the programme will be adversely affected. In such event, the Sub-Fund's ability to achieve its investment objective could be negatively affected.
- As the Sub-Fund may invest in A shares indirectly through ELLs, the Sub-Fund is exposed to the risks relating to investment in ELLs:
 - Credit risk: If any one of the ELLs issuers fails to perform its obligations under the ELLs, the Sub-Fund may suffer losses potentially equal to the full value of the instrument issued by the relevant issuer. Any such loss would result in the reduction in the Net Asset Value of the Sub-Fund and impair the ability of the Sub-Fund to achieve its investment objective.
 - Illiquidity risk: There may not be an active market for those ELLs which are not listed or quoted on a market. Even if the ELLs are quoted, there is no assurance that there will be an active market for them. Therefore investment in ELLs can be highly illiquid.
 - QFII risk: The issuance of the ELLs depends on the ability of the QFII to buy and sell A shares. The availability of QFII investment quota and any restrictions or any change in the QFII laws and regulations may adversely affect the issuance of ELLs and impair the ability of the Sub-Fund to achieve its investment objective.
- The Sub-Fund is subject to PRC tax risk. There are risks and uncertainties associated with the current PRC tax laws, regulations and practice in respect of capital gains realised via Shanghai and Shenzhen Connect or ELLs on the Sub-Fund's investments in the PRC. Any future changes in the taxation policies in respect of QFII's or the Sub-Fund's investment in A shares in the PRC will impact on the Sub-Fund's returns. It is possible that any future announcement by the PRC tax authority may subject the Sub-Fund to unforeseen tax obligations, which may have retrospective effect.
- Please refer to the offering document of the Sub-Fund for further details including investment objectives and policies, charges and expenses, and risk factors (especially for the parts relating to Shanghai and Shenzhen Stock Connect, ELLs and QFII), before making any investment decision.

MANAGER'S COMMENT

On Market

Amid the tariff truce in July, China's manufacturing PMI ticked up slightly to 49.7 from 49.4 in June. Exports growth beat expectation and reached 3.3%, versus -1.3% in June. Meanwhile, new loans slumped unexpectedly from RMB 1,660bn to 1,060bn, partly caused by the PBoC reducing liquidity in the banking system. However, the prevailing Sino-US trade dispute continued to cloud the prospect of China's economy. Industrial production growth dropped to a 17-year low, at 4.8%, from 6.3%. In August, the US Treasury labelled China a currency manipulator and the two nations announced a new round of tit-for-tat tariff hikes. The re-escalated trade conflict suppressed market sentiment again, but also led to higher expectation of new easing policies in China. 12-month onshore RMB forwards at end-August suggested the RMB to depreciate 0.3%, versus the 0.2% depreciation expectations at end-July.

A new 10% tariff on a further USD300 billion of Chinese imports and China Politburo's meeting officially refrained using the property market as a form of short-term stimulus, weighed on mainland equities during first half of August. Market sentiment gradually recovered after U.S. extended its Huawei-related exemptions for 90 days on Aug 19th, and seemingly strengthened despite China and U.S. exchanged another round of retaliation tariff on the Aug 23rd weekend. The relatively tech-savvy Shenzhen Composite and ChiNext Index eventually reversed their losses in early August and edged higher for three months in a row, while the large-cap dominant Shanghai Composite Index only drifted slightly lower by end-August. Meanwhile, Hang Seng H-share and Red-chip Index suffered more than their mainland peers in August, dragged by the prolonged social unrest and the increased off-shore RMB volatility during the month.

On Portfolio

The Sub-Fund fell in August. Our positions in Industrials dragged the most to our performance.
