MANAGER'S COMMENT##

On Market

With support from domestic demand, Japan's second quarter GDP surprised on the upside, marking a third quarter of expansion. Investments from private, business and public sectors all contributed, while net exports dragged on growth. June core machine orders surged, surpassing estimates and reverted earlier drop, mainly due to resilience in non-manufacturing orders. However, weak exports continued into July, reflecting a tough external environment. Uncertainties surrounding US-China dispute would continue to be a significant risk going forward, yet fiscal stimulus and consumption brought forward before the October sales tax hike might provide a buffer in the near term.

Japan equity market dropped in August in USD term, but outperformed most other major markets. Concerns of further escalation in US-China trade friction resurfaced and the Yen appreciated sharply after US President announced plans to impose another round of tariffs on Chinese goods. Utilities outperformed other sectors while Energy underperformed the most, driven by uncertain economic outlook. Positive surprises in the latest quarterly results exceeded negative surprises but earnings momentum is likely to take longer to recover amid uncertain environment.

On Portfolio

The Sub-Fund slightly underperformed the reference index in August. Stock selections in Health Care & Pharmaceuticals subtracted value. Going forward, upcoming sales tax hike and persistent trade friction would be headwinds to Japan equities. Thus the Sub-Fund would adopt a more neutral stance to reduce the near term risks.
